PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Well, it is that time again...time for the President's letter to materialize magically in the FACRL Newsletter. I have read with pleasure the letters appearing in this space over the past several years, never imagining that one day I would be faced with composing one myself. I guess that my feelings are best summed up in a quote from Forrest Gump, "life is like a box of chocolates, you never know what you'll get". So, here goes.

To many of you, FACRL is simply the source of a newsletter you receive twice a year; for others, it is a fall program or a program at the annual FLA conference. Amazingly enough, for some (not enough by my last count), it is an opportunity to spread the word that libraries in Florida have some real treasures to offer...words and ideas that are not always expressed by the various consortia, committee meetings, or mailings. Some librarians view FACRL as a sounding board for ALA policies and procedures, others as a means by which simply to share experiences and time with other professionals in the state.

Actually, (SURPRISE, SURPRISE) FACRL is all of these and much, much more. This organization not only gives its members, but all librarians in Florida, wonderful opportunities to participate in the business of libraries and information services. Gee, what a radical thought. I wonder why more people don't take advantage of such a bargain? I have seen first hand what this organization can do for individuals and institutions, and therefore I encourage you not only to become a member of FACRL but to actively participate (member or not) in the programs and events sponsored by FACRL. Your next chance will be on November 4, 1994 in Orlando.

Our fall workshop will continue a tradition of excellent programming for librarians in Florida. Too often we are caught up in the hectic pace of our own libraries and do not have (or take) the time to notice what is in our own backyard. The fall program, "Biting the Electronic Bullet: Bibliographic Instruction", should help to alleviate that situation. We are not going to bring in "experts" from out of state; instead, we want you to know that you have experts nearby, in Florida, and that they are willing and ready to share their success stories with you. Our focus then will be to alert you not only to the things others in the state are doing but also to make you aware that you are not alone in your confusion, frustration, etc. We want to demonstrate that help is nearby and as easy to get as dialing a phone number or driving a few miles to another institution where someone has tried some of the very things you are considering with regards to your BI program.

It is this personal interaction that FACRL wants to develop. We want to expand our knowledge base relative to what is happening in our own state. Too many times, good programs exist which are not "big" enough to merit special emphasis at conventions, etc. This program will be a real step in changing that direction. Don't miss it.

So, get involved in FACRL. Take advantage of the resources the Chapter makes available to you. "Forrest Gump" was a GREAT movie, but remember, it was fiction. The educational and professional needs of librarians in Florida are real. Help us to continue filling some of those needs. YOU and FACRL are the stuff of libraries in Florida.

See you in November.

Dick Waddell

B I t i n g t h e E L E C T R O N I C B U L L E T

I N

B S Electronic access to information is a
L T reality in libraries. However, teaching
I R patrons how to effectively use this O U technology is constantly in a state of
G C change. The Florida Chapter of ACRL
R T presents representatives from several
A I Florida institutions who will discuss how and
P O what they are doing to meet these H N everyday challenges.

I

C Jimmie Anne Nourse (Indian River Community College) will discuss why libraries are changing as a result of technology and how we can meet the new demands. Her topic,
"Coping with Change--Access and Instruction", is sure to stimulate questions from the attendees.

Patricia Iannuzzi (Florida International University) plans to share her ideas on the impact of the OPAC on point-of-use instruction. Her topic,
"Coordinating Reference Desk Service Philosophy with Classroom Instruction Objectives", will challenge your traditional viewpoints of the Reference Desk.

Also included in the day-long meeting will be several excellent poster sessions. In these sessions, Florida librarians will share their success stories with workshop participants.

This workshop offers an excellent opportunity for staff in all library departments to discover what is being done in other areas of the state as far as bibliographic instruction is concerned. Plan now to spend the day with FACRL, get answers to your questions, and take home lots of useful information.

The workshop will be held at the Holiday Inn -- Orlando International Airport on Friday, November 4 from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. On-site registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Friday. A group of rooms have been reserved at the Holiday Inn, $75 single, $89 double per night. When calling the Holiday Inn, be sure to say that you are coming for the FACRL meeting. The hotel is near the airport, and free shuttle service is provided to and from the airport.
The cut-off date for reservations is October 14.

For additional information, or to request special accommodations, contact Dick Waddell, FACRL
Chapter President, (904) 226-6595.

NETWORKS AND ASSOCIATIONS

Central Florida Library Consortium (CFLC)

The CFLC Continuing Education committee recently surveyed professional and paraprofessional staff in member libraries regarding perceived continuing education needs. The hot topics--ranked from highest to lowest--are the Internet, CD-ROM database searching, FIRN, reference, grant-writing, ILL, government documents, public relations, preservation, book repair, and MARC. The CFLC has already scheduled workshops on the Internet, FIRN, and ILL over the next year.

The CFLC board has established a Legislative Committee to develop and implement a program of communication and to provide information to legislators and members concerning consortium activities and needs.

College Center for Library Automation (CCLA)

Library patrons at any one of Florida's 28 community colleges can now search the online catalog of the State Library for access to its large volume of government and historical documents. In turn, State Library patrons can check the holdings of any community college library.

Community college students accessing LION (Library Online), the State Library's online catalog, can locate State Library resources and borrow most of them through interlibrary loan. State Library users now have access to LINCC which provides information about the resources of the community college library system, with current holdings of 1.3 million titles and 2.3 million volumes.

Circulation implementation continues at a steady pace. As of mid-July, 18 institutions were at some stage in circulation activity. In addition to bibliographic and circulation systems, LINCC has an e-mail program, LINCC-Mail, which connects staff at community college libraries.

As of April 1994, all 28 community colleges in Florida were connected to LINCC. During April, the system recorded more than 400,000 online catalog searches, including 2,600 where the users chose to access LUIS, the State University System online catalog managed by the Florida Center for Library Automation.

Florida Center for Library Automation (FCLA)

On August 30-31, FCLA held its annual Joint Meeting which brought together SUS members of the Public Services Committee, the Technical Services Committee, and the Library Liaisons.

A review of enhancements added in the last year included: the ability to do complex keyword Boolean searches from the command line using proximity; (coming soon) limiting by date, language and format; the addition of new citation databases; the Florida Documents Index, compiled by FAU; and the introduction of a full-text database, Florida Statutes, on LUIS.

System enhancements proposed, discussed, and prioritized for the coming year include:

- ♦ Search and retrieval of Course Reserve lists in LUIS, by name of instructor, course number, and course title
- ♦ Download and print LUIS screens, including the ability to send citations to e-mail addresses
- ♦ Add keyword/Boolean search capability to the technical services module

Panhandle Library Access Network (PLAN)

PLAN members who ordered the Panhandle Union List of Serials (PULSE) on CD-ROM got more than just a union list. OCLC and Auto-Graphics provided a multipurpose resource sharing system called SharePAC. Searching on the CD-ROM includes numeric, title, subject, keyword, and Boolean search capability. This features makes the CD appropriate for patron use, if desired.

Southeast Florida Library Information Network (SEFLIN)

The SEFLIN Free-Net is up and running, with the number of users surpassing 1,000 and new information being added every day. SEFLIN solicited from its users suggestions for new groups, forums, bulletin boards, and data sources to be added to the menu system.

Tampa Bay Library Consortium (TBLC)

A variety of workshops will be sponsored by the Tampa Bay Library Consortium over the next several months. Unless otherwise indicated, all workshops are held at TBLC Headquarters located in Suite 124, 10002 Princess Palm Avenue in Tampa, Florida. To register for a TBLC workshop, call the TBLC Headquarters at (813) 622-8252. The deadline for registering for a workshop is one week prior to the date of the workshop. Proposals are judged with an emphasis on the following: 1) potential significance of the project to acquisitions or technical services work; 2) originality and creativity; 3) clarity and completeness of the proposal; and 4) evidence of an interest in scholarship (previous publication record).

Brief proposals (five pages or less, double-spaced) should include the following: 1) description of research, travel or writing project; 2) schedule for project; 3) estimate of expenses (e.g., travel, fares, data analysis, computer time, photocopying, typing); and 4) an up-to-date curriculum vitae.

Recipients of the fellowship are required to submit a report of the results of their research to ACRL for possible publication in C&RL News.

FROM THE EDITOR

This is the first issue of the Florida Chapter ACRL Newsletter where the Editor has gone solo. There were no regional reporters to solicit and forward news. I think it worked. I did not hear from some of the "regulars", but reports were received for the first time from some libraries. The deadline dates for the next two issues of the Newsletter are provided on this page. Mark them down now and make plans to send in your library's news.

A new feature for me this time was the use of e-mail. I was able to receive and log messages from many libraries. Then, I was able to download the text rather than having to input each of the reports. Was the test as successful for you as it was for me?

Please remember that this is your Newsletter. If something does not work for you, if there are questions or concerns, please let someone know. You can contact me or any member of the Executive Board. You can reach me at (904) 474-2168, SUNCOM 680-2168, or via e-mail at tjohnson@uwf.cc.uwf.edu. Other e-mail addresses are provided on page 2.

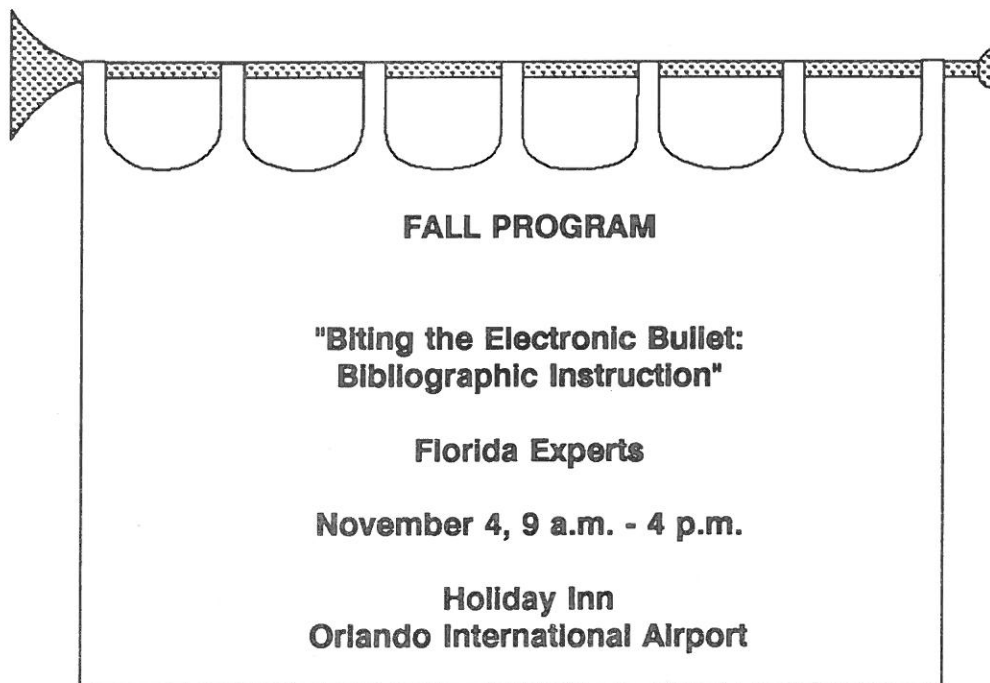

Thanks to each of you for providing news and information. A special thanks is owed to the UWF circulation staff for allowing me some time to edit while we are down a position and planning a move.

Theresa Johnson
